AMERICAN POLICY FOUNDATION

Hello Vicky,

I just had an incredible week!

The letter below is a bit long, but it tells you about an exciting and vitally important new project I'm putting together. It describes a whole new approach to saving the property rights of Americans. And I believe that if we can protect private property at the local level from government control then we can save our freedoms as a nation.

Last week was incredible because the plan is starting to come together! I've begun to assemble the team I need. And I have made appearances on several major radio networks to discuss my plans. Next, one of the nation's leading Constitutional experts agreed to join my team as an advisor. In addition, I received an invitation to put together a proposal to create a major new documentary to expose the assault by government on property owners. Right after that conversation I got the call I've been waiting for. Within the next two weeks I will be meeting with officials at a major government agency to discuss how we can begin to roll back regulations to stop the assault on private property!

That's all in one week! It's starting to come together. Please read my report below for the details. My thirty year fight against growing government tyranny is beginning to see signs of success! We can win this fight. It's beginning to happen!!! Tom

PERSONAL AND PRIVATE FROM TOM DEWEESE

Dear Vicky,

I've just returned home from an incredible series of meetings in New York City. For now I would appreciate it if you keep what I'm about to tell you private.

But I want to personally share with you some of the details of this important series of meetings because it will drastically change our fight against Agenda 21 and the massive government assault on private property.

For three days I met with major media representatives, producers and publishers. The purpose was to introduce myself and pitch the issue of private property rights for possible interviews on their shows or publications.

I met with media representatives from Fox News, CBS News, CBS Radio, The Today Show, ABC News, the New York Daily News, Ebony Magazine, USA Today magazine and several radio programs. In all, I was able to make pitches to about 30 national media outlets.

Here are a few of the story ideas I pitched to them:

- Why Property Rights Matter Now More Than Ever.
- How Property Ownership Eradicates Poverty.
- How Federal Policy is Destroying Local Property Values.
- Create Personal Wealth, Eradicate Poverty & Fulfill Dreams.

The message I brought them was that government programs are destroying private property rights and values, thereby destroying the hopes and dreams of Americans from the Great Plains to the inner cities.

I especially focused on the plight of low-income ethnic neighborhoods that are being destroyed by federal Smart Growth policy that bulldozes those homes and builds massive, expensive high rise condos in their place.

These folks are then forced into federal housing projects full of crime. They have no chance to build hopes and dreams for their own family's future.

This is the heart of Agenda 21/2030 policy that is destroying property rights, free enterprise and our economy.

I talked passionately of the need to get government out of the way, to roll back regulations that trap millions of Americans into a life of hopelessness.

I schooled them on how private property ownership was the only workable solution to ending poverty and allowing individuals to create lives of their own.

Believe it or not, the reception was very positive. One producer for a national radio network said I was the first property rights expert he had ever met. He intends to give me air time! Several publications agreed to either write articles or let me write some of them.

The bottom line is that this opportunity to talk with the media was a huge step forward in my efforts to bring Agenda 21 and the assault on property rights to a national audience. That ability has been missing from our efforts for all of these years.

That is about to change!

I have much more to tell you!

Next - building on the media coverage which I believe will be coming from my New York meetings, my next move is to build an effective national property rights movement.

Remember - as I have said many times in my speeches and articles - if we can protect property rights we can STOP Agenda 21/2030!

First, I am writing a new book on property rights. It will show why property rights matter and it will provide solutions for eradicating poverty and restoring the American dream of freedom through personal ownership of property - for ALL Americans!

I plan to have the book done within the next two months.

In fact, while in New York I was also able to meet with literary agents and book publishers and it looks like I have succeeded in landing a publisher for the book.

Once the book is completed, the second step is to organize a Property Rights Network of organizations, elected representatives, and activists from across the nation. We will exchange information, organize events, and provide leadership to bring the fight to the local, state, and national levels.

The mission is to make property rights a national issue and force elected officials deal with the government assault on property rights.

The third step is to present a series of private conference calls with some of our country's top experts to teach local activists how to fight back. (I am planning one that will be just for my closest supports, including you.)

Fourth, I am very close to getting a meeting with HUD Secretary Ben Carson. I want to discuss how he can help roll back regulations that are preventing people in the inner cities from owning property and creating their own local businesses.

And fifth, once I have that meeting with Dr. Carson, I will organize a series of events in inner city neighborhoods of some of our largest cities, to meet with community leaders to prepare "non-government" programs to help local residents create local businesses and build personal prosperity in their own neighborhoods.

I'm working right now to appeal to small business associations to help us do it!

These are things that must be done to restore the right for individual Americans to build their own lives - without government programs!!

Imagine the hopelessness, the frustration, the anger these people in lower income, ethnic neighborhoods feel when their homes are bulldozed and their local businesses are destroyed through the Agenda 21 Smart Growth policies.

I intend to change that! Finally, we are going to fight the battle as it should be fought -- through free enterprise and private property ownership!

Now, you may notice that this email is not coming to you from my American Policy Center. Instead I am writing to you from APC's sister organization, the American Policy Foundation (APF).

There is a very special reason for that.

The program I have just outlined is the most aggressive and far-reaching program I have ever attempted.

To tell you the truth, I am tired of losing to the Left.

I am sick of seeing our personal liberties being destroyed.

I am determined to use every means available to me to restore our Constitutionally-guaranteed rights!

To win this fight I need to raise some major funding.

The American Policy Foundation is a 501c3 organization. So all contributions to it are completely tax deductible.

That means I can possibly get small business groups and freedom foundations to financially support my program. But there is no guarantee of that.

It certainly does mean that every dollar supporters like you contribute will be tax-deductible.

I intend to change the way we fight. I will lead the battle to restore our hopes, our dreams and our American freedoms! Whatever it takes - I am determined to win!

Everything you and I believe in - everything we stand for - the freedom of every American is on the line. Either we stand and fight now - with everything we have - or lose it forever.

As a friend of mine, the late rancher Wayne Hage, once said, "Either we have the right to own and control property -- or we ARE property."

That is what is at stake here. Freedom!

I'm doing everything I possibly can to preserve our liberty and protect our precious property rights.

But it will take money to make these programs effective.

Will you join me now with your most generous financial help?

Vicky, will you contribute $50, $100 or $1000 or more (all fully tax-deductible) so I can get started? You will be one of the first to be personally invited to participate in a private conference call to learn all of the details of my plan.

DONATE NOW

The battle lines are drawn. The Left is determined to destroy our freedom. My plan goes right into the heart of the Left's strongholds - the inner cities - where they think they have a lock on low-income ethnic communities.

And I am making my way onto the news media that has ignored or hidden the tragic hopelessness that goes on there.

I need your help to win!

DONATE NOW

Sincerely,

Tom DeWeese
President
American Policy Foundation
